

Lake Placid Camp and Conference Center

By Ron and Lisa Haley

What an adventure we had. I was a little concerned with the number of volunteers we had for the two months that there would not be enough work to keep us all busy. Trust me, there was plenty of work to do. We had ROAMers, SOWERS, and others all working together for the Kingdom of God.

Each work day we started with devotions, prayer, and singing...and then off to work we go. Main construction projects were the beach house, the office addition and new roof (both had been affected by the hurricane), a new pavilion made for the water slide area, and rebuilding Tiki huts that look really sharp on the grounds. A lot of electrical was accomplished too, as the camp is transitioning to LED lighting. This will save a lot in energy costs. Ron was part of the demo and construction crew, and I had the privilege to work with the office ladies for most of my time there.

With many groups coming and going there is a lot of housekeeping and cooking that needs to be done...so many happy helpers worked in laundry and kitchen.

There is so much more I could share...but the thing that awes me the most about ROAM is that we all just want to use our talents, whatever they may be, for God's glory and Kingdom. We all come from different backgrounds, some with greater skills than others, but we are all being obedient to God's call to go forth in this ministry, wherever those doors are opened for us. We are grateful, honored, and blessed to be able to serve.
